Social Media Copy

Facebook

IISE is the world’s leading community of industrial engineering professionals. It’s also my professional home. Message me for more information on how IISE enriches my career and how it could advance your professional goals too.

Find out why over 14,000 industrial engineers worldwide are members of IISE. Message me for more information on IISE’s professional resources, and join me at our next local chapter event.

I’ve been an IISE member for (number) years and hope you will consider joining my professional community. With resources for students up to c-level, and programming spanning international conferences to local events, you’ll find what you need at IISE. Message me to learn more.

Twitter

Find out why over 14,000 industrial and systems engineers worldwide, including me, are members of @IISEnet. Ask me how to join!

@IISEnet is my professional home for learning and networking. Contact me to learn how an IISE membership could deliver value for you.

Build career connections while advancing your skill set with @IISEnet. Contact me to attend a chapter event and learn more.

LinkedIn

IISE is my go-to source for learning, networking and a wealth of resources for industrial engineers. Our local chapter is the perfect venue for connecting with professionals who share your interests. Message me for more information or to join me at our next chapter meeting.

Are you looking for high quality professional development? As an active IISE member, I suggest you consider joining IISE now for deep discounts on their highly regarded online and classroom training. Check out the IISE Training Center, with essential topics including Lean and Six Sigma. Message me for more information on how IISE could expand your career reach.

IISE membership has enriched my career through unparalleled learning and connections. Message me to find out how IISE could deliver value for you.